Adonis in Hard Luck.

A man once asked Thackeray to lend him five shillings, which he would convert into £20,000. Asked how, he explained that he knew a young lady with £20,000 who he knew would marry him if he asked her, but he had pawned his teeth, and wanted five shillings to redeem them in order to propose effectively. — T. P.'s Weekly.

Be sure and take a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with you when starting on your trip this summer. It cannot be obtained on board the trains or steamers. Changes of water and climate often causes sudden attacks of diarrhoea, and it is best to be prepared. Sold by all dealers. 4-4t.

Barbarous English Custom.

Boys in the west of England believe that by squeezing a mole to death between the hands and touching the affected parts with the blood that oozes from the mouth of the dying animal warts will disappear and will not reappear. The culprits are convinced that moles, worms and other subterranean dwellers have no feelings, and, therefore, it is not cruelty to put them to death in this way.

If your liver is sluggish and out of tone, and you feel dull, bilious, constipated, take a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets tonight before retiring and you will feel all right in the morning. Sold by all dealers. 4-4t.

East and West.

There is no longer any doubt, our Shanghai correspondent tells us, that the old order of thought which has guided the lives of countless millions in the Chinese empire through a long succession of centuries is passing away forever. The movement in favor of western education has become irresistible. — London Times.

For Rent.

A Child's Comment.

Even little children are amazed at the backwardness of New York. A bright youngster of five, crossing over from New Jersey and seeing the West street transportation relic for the first time, jerked her father's coat-tails nearly off, exclaiming: "Oh, papa, see the trolley cars being pulled by horses!" — N. Y. Press.

Stops earache in two minutes; toothache or pain of burns or scalds in five minutes; hoarseness, one hour; muscleache, two hours; sore throat, twelve hours—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, monarch over pain. 4-4t.

Better Than Writing Poetry. Literary work is all right, but the surest way to make your name a household word is to advertise extensively.—Somerville Journal.

Dysentery is a dangerous disease but can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has been successfully used in nine epidemics of dysentery. It has never been known to fail. It is equally valuable for children and adults, and when reduced with water and sweetened, it is pleasant to take. Sold by all dealers. 4-4t.

To Cut Plate Glass.

To cut a piece of plate glass it is thought a diamond cutter is necessary, but it is not. If the glass is not very thick it can be cut with a pair of scissors, a large pair being preferable. While cutting hold the glass beneath half a foot or more of water, and it can be cut any shape desired. A round piece of glass has been cut out of a good sized pane in just this manner. The scissors do not have to be extra sharp.—Success.

Most disfiguring skin eruptions, scrofula, pimples, rashes, etc., are due to impure blood. Burdock Blood Bitters is a cleansing blood tonic. Makes you clear-eyed, clear-brained, clear-skinned. 4-4t.

Contentment.

"Contentment," said Uncle Eben, "may be better than riches, but dar'nt no way of negotiatin' it at de landlird's office or de grocery sto'."

WELL DESERVED

The Praise That Comes From Thankful Mt. Sterling People.

One kidney remedy never fails. Mt. Sterling people rely upon it. That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mt. Sterling testimony proves it always reliable.

Mrs. Mary Hinson, 21 Strother St., Mt. Sterling, Ky., says: "I believe that if I had not used Doan's Kidney Pills I would not be living today. My health was very poor and two of our best physicians stated that I had diabetes and could not expect to recover. They gave me a year to prepare for my sad fate. The kidney secretions were very unnatural, contained a heavy sediment and at times my body became bloated. I was nervous and suffered severely from headaches and dizzy spells, during which spots floated before my eyes and I had to grasp something for support. My back was also very weak and I could not stoop to button my shoes, in fact, could hardly get around. I was so much impressed by a testimonial given in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills that I decided to try them and procured a box at Duerson's drug store. They gave me immediate relief and I continued taking them until I was in good health. I have but little trouble with my kidneys now and for that reason recommend Doan's Kidney Pills highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's and take no other. 6-2t

GROWING USE OF HYPNOTISM

Practice Alleged to Be the Means of Accomplishing Much Genuine Good.

Few persons outside the medical profession have any idea of the extraordinary things that are being done by hypnotism to-day—not by charlatans and showmen, whose exhibitions are generally frauds, the so-called subjects having learned their parts perfectly.

In New York city alone 20,000 cases of genuine hypnotism are performed every year, and not for show purposes, either. In fact, it would be difficult to witness the hypnotism of a person for any legitimate purpose, and many legitimate purposes there are nowadays.

It is asserted that operations are performed by the aid of hypnotism instead of the more dangerous anesthesia; teeth are filled or pulled without pain by the same easy method. "Incorrigibles," especially children, are cured by mental suggestion through hypnotism. Alcoholics and drug habitues find first relief and then complete cure by the same marvelous means. Nervous prostration and a host of other mental ailments are said to be cured or alleviated.

Strangest of all, perhaps, artists now have their models hypnotized in order that the same pose may be maintained for hours at a time—impossible were the model conscious of the effort.

"HELPER" WAS TOO WILLING.

Experience of Boss Carpenter Enabled Him to Guess Where Stranger Came From.

A gentleman fitting up his house in the country had brought from a neighboring town a considerable force of carpenters, plumbers, and the like. After superintending them for a few days, he grew to know them all by sight. One day, suddenly, he spied a new face, and his owner was busying himself most actively carrying things up and downstairs and otherwise being useful. Nevertheless, the owner of the house beckoned to him.

"Who are you?" he inquired.

"Oh, I'm just helping," answered the mysterious one, with an engaging smile.

"Carpenter? Plumber?"

"No—just helping." And off he went with a boxful of crockery.

The owner called the boss carpenter aside. The boss carpenter eyed the cheerful helper. Then he smiled.

"In the next township," he said, "there is a lunatic asylum. I'll make inquiries."

Next day the willing helper was not on the job.—New York Times.

Egyptian Irrigation.

Incorrect statements having been made regarding the reclamation of land in the valley of the Nile, U. S. Consul General Iddings of Cairo states that when the addition of the Assuan dam is finished in 1912 over twice as much Nile water will be held up as at present and it is expected that 900,000 acres of land in the very north of the delta, over 700 miles distant from the dam, will then be reclaimed, since there will then be summer water enough to irrigate this great tract. But until the dam is finished no steps will be taken to reclaim or drain these 900,000 acres which lie in the low regions of the lakes. When the work of reclamation is begun the only machinery to be employed will be dredges in the canals, the rest of the labor will be manual, which is very cheap in Egypt.

Other Heroes Than Soldiers.

It is well that we should remember the patriotism of our citizen soldiers, but even they were workers before they were warriors. They did not fight for money. They did not fight for conquest. They upheld a republic of equal rights and equal opportunity, which in its last analysis is a republic of free men and free industry. To forget in our glorification of the soldier the cause that made him bear arms is to deny him true honor and make war itself an object of admiration regardless of its purpose. A peaceful nation should have some common ideals aside from those which war sets up. If we would celebrate heroism it is to be found all about us in humble stations among the men and women—even the children—who toil.—New York World.

Reclothing Pelee.

The vegetation on the area laid waste by the Mount Pelee eruption of 1902 is gradually reappearing and the indigo plant, castor oil plant, sensitive plant, guinea ferns, silver ferns and other plants are spreading over the ground. Roots not killed by the hot ashes falling above them have readily penetrated the thin crust. In other places, the trampling of animals and water action have been breaking up the lava, giving a slowly forming new soil or bringing the old soil to the surface.

Touch and Go.

"Good morning, sir," said the tall man in the suit of faded black, opening his valise. "My name is Glasspy. I am the inventor of a little device for—"

"I am glad to meet you, Mr. Glasspy," interrupted the man in the doorway. "My name is Washbaugh. I have the sole right in this county to take subscriptions for a new and copiously illustrated edition of the works of—"

"Good day, sir."

"Good day."

GREWSOME BEQUEST TO SON.

Vindictive Englishman Left His Right Hand to Offspring with Whom He Had Quarreled.

Probably the most gruesome bequest ever named in a will was that made by Philip Thicknesse, a dissipated Englishman, who died in 1792. Some years before his death he had quarreled bitterly with his son, Lord Audley, and to spite him had placed on the outside of the family mansion a board bearing this inscription in large black letters:

"Boots and shoes mended, carpets beat, etc., etc., by P. Thicknesse, father of Lord Audley."

Finding he was about to die, he sent for his lawyer and drew up a will containing the following extraordinary clause: "I leave my right hand, to be cut off after my death, to my son, Lord Audley; I desire it may be sent to him, in hopes that such a sight may remind him of his duty to God, after having so long abandoned the duty he owed to a father who once so affectionately loved him."

The dead man's wishes were scrupulously carried out, and his severed hand, inclosed in a hermetically sealed casket, was forwarded to his son. There is no record as to how Lord Audley received his unwelcome legacy or how he disposed of it.

FRIGIDITY IN LONDON CLUBS.

English Institutions by No Means as Hospitable as Are Those of America.

The old rule concerning clubs in London has not been abrogated. When an Englishman comes to New York we rush to put him up at our various clubs. He has the entire to all of them, and he lives in clover. When an American goes to London, he must be content to be as a stranger, and he is escorted to the strangers' room and dined in a cubby hole, as if he were a species of infected person. This experience applies whether he is a member of a smart New York club or not. There are a few clubs of the second and third class which admit strangers, and the American, in absolute despair, sometimes subscribes to these proprietary affairs so as to be able to have some place other than a hotel or a business office from which to direct his correspondence. The Englishman maintains that we do not yet understand club life. An American, according to this authority, uses his club for a lounging place as well as for an office in which to transact business. He will put up a business or an out-of-town acquaintance at his club when he would not ask him to his house.—Vogue.

The Poultice Is Out.

We have been accustomed to regard the poultice as a valuable remedial agent. Now comes the Delinquent to tell us it is a barbarous relic of the days of witch-burning and theological medicine. The typical home poultice is made of flaxseed. It is a soggy, unsavory, germ-infested instrument of torture. Clapped upon the suffering baby's chest it interferes with the poor child's breathing, infects the skin with the germs that cause pimples and boils, and makes him unbearably uncomfortable and unhappy. The heat in the poultice is its only valuable feature. The dampness does damage, and the flaxseed is as inert as so much sawdust or breakfast food. Why not use hot-water bags, or fether still, hot cloths?

French Tobacco Consumption.

In France the consumption of tobacco is greatly on the increase. In 1908 there were consumed 19,000,000 cigars of foreign make and 577,000,000 of French manufacture. The total amount expended in smoke is given at 126,000,000 francs ($25,200,000). The Anti-Tobacco society of France is having considerable trouble with "hecklers," who quote the case of a Mme. Shoy, who celebrated her one hundred and seventh birthday recently, and maintained that the secret of her longevity lay in her pipe, which she had smoked regularly from the time she was 12 years old.

They Do Not Dance.

Admiral Ijichi is quoted as saying that his countrymen do not dance, and the truth of the matter is that Japanese ladies and gentlemen would not think of dancing. The geisha girls dance to amuse, and they may or may not be good girls, but they are not considered ladies, and when Japanese men and women attend entertainments where dancing is going on in this country it must seem very queer to them.

As She Looked at It.

A young girl had just told how, in crossing the ocean, she had seen, from the porthole of her stateroom, a man overboard, struggling in the water. She was asked to tell exactly what was her first thought when she caught sight of him.

"Why," she declared, "when I first saw him, out there in all that water, I thought to myself: 'How inappropriate!'"
